In March 2003, Talan Skeels-Piggins, an active PE teacher, former Royal Navy fighter controller and experienced skier, had a motorcycle accident, leaving him paralysed from the chest-down. In less than a year, he was back on the ski slopes in a specially adapted sit-ski and he set himself a goal of representing Great Britain at the 2010 Winter Paralympics.

Talan has set up a charity called The Bike Experience, advising and teaching disabled motorcyclists how it is possible to ride again.

His experiences have led him to give motivation and achievement talks all over the country.

His talks are emotional and honest, showing just how tough the human spirit is.
